ANNOUNCEMENT.
We are authorized to announce John A. Barry as the nominee of the Democratic Party, for Representative Brackenridge District, at the next General Assembly of Kentucky.

There are no more where splendid results of what a railroad does for a community than are demonstrated right here in our own good county of Brackenridge. Compare our condition today with that of ten years ago. Would any man go back to those old conditions? The most remote sections of the county are now in touch with the outside world and the world's markets. Where farmers had to pay $10 to get a hoghead of tobacco to the market they can now put it there for $1.50, and where they never thought of raising a crop of wheat they now raise thousands of bushels, and where they only thought of marketing their hogs once a year, they now have a market every day in the year, and the same is true of their corn, their hay and their cattle. Look at the vast area of timber that has been made available and turned into money, that has been given employment and the rich streams flowing with golden dollars that have been opened up and made navigable. Have we any real coming along the railroad? Not a bit, when we stop to think and reflect. But on the other hand we ought to be grateful, and thank the men of brains and capital for coming here, investing their money and helping us. Don't let us make war on the men and the capital that have made us what we are, but let us invite them. As Judge Pratt very truthfully said, his speeches in this county that another railroad wouldn't hurt us. We want more men of brains and capital to come among us and not the selfish politicians who have no interest in us except for our votes to put them in fat places.

There are a lot of fellows around around the county kicking against trains. Just ask one of these kickers when and where a trust ever hurt him and he will answer you. We are not a trust to be checked, but we are free to confess that we do not know the reason. When the greatest benefit of the railroad in convention, as they did in Chicago a few days ago, for the purpose of discussing ways and means to remove this evil and adjourn without forming any conclusion or plan, they are within our power to do anything. The man that knows his business, attends to it, loves it, and has faith in it, no trust or combination can knock him out or wants to knock him out.

This News has been asked the question "Is not the American people's company a trust?" We emphatically answer is not, and we say further, that there is no school book trust in this country. Now Mr. Pettit, or any who agree with him, will bring any evidence showing that what we say is not true, then we will acknowledge that we don't know what we are talking about. We will give them all the space they want to defend their position, if it is couched in respectful language.

The Fiscal Court ought to come down here and take a look at our macadam roads. If the sight of them does not convert the whole body and soul of them then we'll see the girls.

An office-seeker who will pledge himself to improve the public highways and who will keep his pledge, should be let in on the ground floor.

A half dozen rock crushers would be a great power toward making good roads in this county, if properly handled.

We can't afford to abandon the good-road movement, because there are some folks that it does not please.

There is no trust on earth that can hurt the man who trusts in God and in himself.

DEWEY AND HIS YELLOW SHOES.
Wore the First Pair in Washington, and Wouldn't be Laughed Out of Them.

When Russel shoes of a bright yellow hue were introduced, Dewey wore the first pair that was seen in Washington. They at once became the subject of jest to all the officers of the Navy Department.

Early in the afternoon one of Dewey's feet began to swell, and his suffering from his new shoes was acute. In an interval between the calls of friends, who were still "muzzling" him on his shoes, the Commodore sought his chief clerk's room. He walked with a limp, and finally loosened the strings, to relieve his feet.

"I suppose I can't take these things off now," he remarked with a bitter smile, "for those fellows think they have driven me to it."

For and hours the Commodore sat at his desk in perfect torture.—October Ladies' Home Journal.

BRANDENBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. Blane Allen have a very ill baby.

Mr. E. T. Noel went to Louisville this week to consult a specialist.

J. H. Ditto has been on the sick list for a week with malaria, of which there is a good deal.

A good many from here attended the Teachers' Association last Saturday at Paysonville.

"Back" Price, Gene Fontaine and James Bricker attended the fall frolic at Louisville.

Brother Littlefield left Tuesday for Glasgow, where the annual conference of the M. E. church south will assemble.

Miss Virginia Rhodes and Jimmie Lee Woolfolk will attend the fall carnival and be the guest of Miss Nellie Seane.

Misses Jane Dowden and Ada Brown are back from Louisville with a lovely line of millinery goods. They are girls after our own heart, and they must be the greatest success. See them on order by mail or through a friend.

The meeting at the Baptist church is still in progress with much interest manifested. Good sermons are being delivered by consecrated servants of God. A sick child at home has kept me from attending, much to my regret. I hope to do this week.

Sherril Burton is back from his tour to see those "right hardworking girls" that are sixteen girls came so near eloping. Also for the sheriff's 15 cents and sold dolls! We shall all await patiently for his forthcoming book; also for his decision in the matter of "eight girls."

The cutting affair which took place near Black Warrior school house, between Hardin Richardson and John Brown, is very much regretted by their friends. I don't know the exact details, but both men are badly off. Dr. Pusey is attending them. We sympathize very deeply with their families.

I mailed the editor of this paper called attention to Mr. Pettit's misleading statements on the school book question. They are false and untrue. The truth always in such matters. I was told to "roast" him in this column, but Mr. Editor, have stated the unvarnished truth. Many of our school books are better than those of Indiana and of course cost more. Let Mr. Pettit be more accurate, or at least put himself before to make positive statements to intelligent people.

I enjoyed, last week, a day and night with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Ditto at their country home, "Arlington," which they have beautified and improved since my last visit. Mr. Ditto is one of the most thorough, complete and capable housekeepers I have known. Such system, such smooth, domestic machinery, and oh, the best of all, the first time to read, and teaches her bright little daughter, Virginia, besides. Mr. Ditto is down on Mr. Goebel for his conduct in the battle with the party to which he belongs will not furnish proper men to vote for, it is best to scratch the bad men and vote for a man in another party, which he will do.

DISCOVERED BY A WOMAN

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this county. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her for seven years and she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she lay on her back, unable to get up, and she finally discovered the cure, by purchasing of a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night, and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery, of Shively, N. C. Trial bottles free at Shively & Haynes' drug store. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

Nancy Hanks.
The loom on which Nancy Hanks, the mother of the great emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, died her weaving, is now owned by Dan J. Smith, of Glendale. The story goes that Nancy Hanks used to make regular trips from her home in LaPorte county to Stephentown. On her route she would stop and weave cloth for people.

It seems that one of her customers, John Martin, came into possession of the loom, and at the sale after his death, it was bought by old George Brington. In time he died and the loom was fallen heir to by Mrs. Patsy Maury. At her death the place was sold to Mr. Smith, and the loom was put in with other property.

This loom, now of historical value, is made of white oak and all the parts are decayed and rotten, except the beam which is about eight inches in diameter, and eight feet long. Mr. Smith is thinking of making it up into walking canes, and selling to relic seekers.

Will Vote For Taylor.
The following is an interview between Mr. J. P. Fishery, Republican nominee for Representative of Meade county, and a friend who gives it to us for publication:

Q: Do you will support Mr. Governor General W. S. Taylor?

A: Yes, for or against the Gobelet Election Law?

A: I am decidedly against it and should be elected, with my best efforts to have it repealed.

Q: Whom will you support for United States Senator if elected?

A: I can not now say that I have any decided preference but I will support any man who has the necessary qualifications provided he is a good Republican.

Q: How is Mr. Smith, your opponent, on these questions?

A: I am not prepared to say as he has not yet declared himself. I would like to hear from him and know how he stands.

Mrs. Brewer's Humane Work.

A well-to-do Rhode Island lady, who looks after the sick of her city, writes to Dr. Hartman of her practical experience with Peruna.

PERUNIA is blessed with some good Samaritans. Mrs. Lizzie M. Brewer, of 184 High St., Westerly, R. I., is a noble woman who devotes a great deal of time and money to caring for the sick of Westerly. She has been for several years one of Peruna's strongest friends, and under date of March 17, 1898, she writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman:

"Your welcome advice is at hand, and my gratitude is unbounded for the privilege I enjoy of consulting you, and of receiving from you, as yourself, always receiving such prompt and satisfactory replies to my questions. And what amazes me most is that this can be done year after year, with unfailing certainty, free of charge. I have learned that you have become to thousands and thousands of households the same benefactor, guide and adviser that you are to my household."

"As for your free books, I read them everyone, and treasure their contents as the choicest of wisdom. I have used Peruna in my family for over four years. I find it sure cure for all catarrhal affections so common in this part of the country. It cures a cold at once; there is no cough medicine that can at all equal Peruna's. I notice in medical journals, and from the testimony of my neighbors that the doctors make quite unsuccessful in treating is grippe, especially in removing the after effects of the grippe. From personal observation in many cases I know that Peruna is a sure specific for these cases. I am among the sick a great deal in our city, and have supplied many invalids with Peruna. I am an enthusiastic in my faith as to its results. I have never known it to fail to quickly and permanently remove the grippe, and I can read your book with which I wish to acquire to acquire no further can do so by enclosing a stamp for reply."

Back to the hearts that are open to greet you,
 Proud of their hero unwavering and true!
 Back to the millions who lovingly meet you,
 Under the folds of the red, white and blue!
 Grandest of Admirals, firm and undaunted,
 What can we utter your praise to bespeak?
 Duty sublime, bravely done, and not vaunted:
 Where thro' the ages your peer may we seek?
 Long have we waited, while far o'er the ocean
 Homeward you sailed to the land of the free;
 Thrilled in each heart with a loyal devotion,
 One in this warmest of welcomes are we!
 Shouts of delight which the throng wildly utters,
 Thunder of guns roars a welcome to you;
 Mast-heads and dome, where our starry flag flutters
 Signal the honor and glory your due.
 Have we forgotten the gleam and the glory
 Added to stars of that time-honored flag?
 Do we remember the hosts that surround you,
 Look for the answer on steeps and crag!
 Faze in the eyes of the hosts that surround you,
 Read there a greeting of loyalty grand;
 Fame that is deathless has lovingly crowned you,
 Made you the pride of Columbia's land.
 BELLE VAN DERVEE in Leslie's Weekly.

Liquid air is just what its name implies. It is not a liquid distilled from some newly discovered vegetable or mineral, but is simply air, such as we breathe, made so cold that it takes the form of water. The fact that air can assume that form is a recent discovery, as also the method of obtaining the immense cold necessary to this result. The temperature required is 338° below zero, which is a temperature farther below the coldest arctic winter than that is below a tropical summer. Yet persistent efforts have at last developed a method by which it is readily produced. When air is cooled down to this degree it changes to a misty vapor and gradually forms into drops that fall like rain to the bottom of the vessel containing it. By proper arrangement it may then be poured off into an open receptacle, ready for use.

When iron is in an open vessel it might be mistaken for boiling water, as it simmers and gives off a white vapor. When first poured out it boils violently, throwing off a cloud of vapor that rolls down the sides of the vessel. But as soon as the receptacle has cooled to the temperature of the liquid, it quiets down to a simmer, which continues until all has evaporated and returned to air. This may require several hours if care is taken to keep the vessel away from every conductor of heat. But if it be placed on a plate of iron, or even a block of ice, it will boil violently and very soon mingle with its native air. If poured out on a conductor, as iron or ice, it will assume the gaseous state so

As a freezing agent the power of liquid air is terrific. It freezes pure alcohol very readily, and freezes mercury so hard that it may be used as a hammer to drive nails into hard wood; and so thorough is the chill given that the mercury retains the solid state for several minutes. It will sear living flesh like a red-hot iron, and may take the place of all chemical cauterizing in surgery. As a refrigerator, liquid air will be easily controlled, and it can be made to lower the temperature of a room very slightly or to produce a degree of cold that no life could endure for a minute. As an explosive it has certainly great power, and experiments already made indicate that it may be used in both gunnery and blasting, and it may, therefore, take the place

The Democrats of Massachusetts, in State Convention last week, clung to the Chicago platform, nominated only candidates heartily favorable to it and chose a straight Bryan delegation to the National Democratic Convention of next year. Such is the beginning of the Democratic campaign for 1900. The Massachusetts Democrats have struck the keynote and it has the genuine silver, 16 to 1 ring.

The great body of the delegates to the National Democratic Convention of next year will not be chosen until next spring, and it is not unlikely that the same party of the same stripe as those selected yesterday by the Massachusetts Democrats is already obvious, at least so far as concerns the renomination of Bryan. It is not only the party of the "old" Democrats of whose organization we heard so much a few months ago, will make any considerable show in the convention. It is the party of the "old" Democrats, who stoutly resisted Bryan's nomination in 1896, are likely to be among the most active in advertising their support of him in 1900. Probably there will be some counting of noses, for his nomination by acclamation seems now to be accepted as certain in all quarters of the Democracy. It is not only the "old" Democrats of the Democratic party, so it has been inevitable ever since his defeat in 1896, he would be. And Bryan means the old party over again and the old campaign, with the old issues and the old slogan, "New—New York Sun.

From Benjamin Franklin.

"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place. Experience tells you that you are best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (I, &, Theory) says is because you are chosen in the last place. But if you are chosen in the last place, you are chosen by Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice, and the best to be taken."

When you have had cold Dr. Incarnation would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and clearing the throat, and thus securing a healthy condition. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport—R. A. Shullman, Stephensport.

Dr. Max Einhorn, of New York city

made a communication to a medical journal some seven years ago regarding "gas trodiaphany," in which a miniature Elinor lamp in a special mounting, attached to a soft rubber tube containing a wire, was introduced into the stomach, so that an examination could be made of it.

Dr. Elnhorn described a camera for photographing the interior of the stomach, but, owing to technical difficulties, the camera was not constructed by him.

Such a camera has, however, been perfected by Dr. Frits Lange, of Munich, Germany, on almost the identical lines given by Dr. Elnhorn.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Lange, the Scientific American has published an accurate illustration of the device employed. The camera is a marvel of compactness, and is constructed exactly on the same principles as all cameras for taking moving photographs, although, of course, there is no attempt made to combine them so as to project the actual color of the objects. The camera itself is swathed by the patent, and it contains a small electric lamp for illuminating the walls of the stomach. A photographic film twenty inches long and a quarter of an inch wide is wound at the bottom of the camera. One end of the film is attached to the camera and runs freely in the tube. When the cord is pulled the film is drawn slowly past the lens. The cord and the conducting wire must, of course, be swathed with the camera itself. When the camera reaches the bottom of the stomach, the surgeon pulls the cord, and the film is exposed to the light of the electric lamp past the lens. The electric light is then turned on, and after the sensitive film has been impressed with the image, the current is turned off and another section of film is brought in by pull, until the required number of pictures have been obtained. The entire apparatus is withdrawn from the stomach.—New York Electrical Review.
